The Thing around your Neck / Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie

Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2009

230p.;

ISBN 9789784801232

$ 20.00

A country famously known to the West for its e-mail scams, Nigeria is indebted to Adichie for these graceful and evocative stories that portray it as the rich and diverse nation it truly is. They also demonstrate her keen insight into the rough terrain of human nature beset by external demands and pressures. Adichie, compared to a "hostess" (San Francisco Chronicle) who invites her achingly believable characters fully formed into her stories, treats her protagonists -- mostly women -- with respect and compassion. A few minor complaints included less-convincing American characters and some awkward endings, but all critics recognized Adichie as an accomplished storyteller whose careful study of her native land illuminates its foreignness as well as the similarities between us all.

To Saint Patrick / Eghosa Imasuen
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2008
326p.;
ISBN 9789784800075
$ 15.00

It is 2003, election year in Nigeria. Major-General Murtala Mohammed, having survived the 1976 coup, is the frontrunner... A tale of political intrigue, To Saint Patrick rewrites Nigerian history, presenting the reader with a series of 'what ifs.' A beautifully written story of adventure, sci-fi, intrigue and love.

Zahrah the Windseeker / Nnedi Okorafor
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2005
308p.;
ISBN 9789780799953
$ 10.00

A girl ventures into a forbidden jungle to save her friend in this botanically creative fantasy. Thirteen-year-old Zahrah lives on a planet where all technology from lights to computer networks is comprised of live plants. But only Zahrah has plants growing in her hair; they've been there since birth and show that she's dada (magical). Supportive parents and best friend Dari can't assuage Zahrah's ...

Becoming Abigail / Chris Abani
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2006
113p.;
ISBN 9789784800082
$ 15.00

Spare, haunting vignettes of exquisite delicacy tell of horrifying sexual brutality suffered by a young Nigerian girl and of her heartfelt anguish, alternating between "Now" in London, where her relatives try to force her into prostitution, and "Then" back in Ibadan, where her mother dies while giving birth to her. Abigail keeps trying to live up to the brave, independent activist mother, who was a judge at 35, and to make it up to her heartbroken dad for the loss of his wife. Raped by her cousin at age 10, she burns and cuts herself; then things get much worse. She fights back, and her punishment is appalling. Never sensationalized, the continual revelations are more shocking for being quietly told, compressed into taut moments that reveal secrets of cruelty--and of love--up to the last page. A prize-winning writer for Graceland (2003), Abani tells a strong young woman's story with graphic empathy.

Burma Boy / Biyi Bandele
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2007
216p.;
ISBN 9789784800037
$ 20.00

This coming-of-age novel of a Nigerian soldier, humorously named Ali Banana, in the Burma campaign during World War II is simply marvelous ... enchanting ... charming ... and unforgettable. It's comic and tragic. The merry verve of Nigerian English infuses the dialogs. So does the banter of Hausas, Yorubas, Ibos, and Tivs thrown together in the same unit -- and the reactions of their sometimes perplexed British officers and NCOs.

The Phoenix / Chika Unigwe
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2005
183p.;
ISBN 9789784801362
$ 15.00

This captivating novella tells the story of a young Nigerian woman who is married to a Belgian national and is forced to confront two tragedies in succession: the accidental death of her young son, and the discovery that she has a terminal disease, cancer. The story is set in Turnhout, Belgium and explores themes of grief, illness and loneliness. She features a central character that has an Afro-European background and highlights shortcomings within the Belgian society such as its pervasive unwelcoming atmosphere and the superficiality of many of its inhabitants.

Goodbye Lucille / Segun Afolabi
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2007

ISBN 9780224076036
$ 20.00

Goodbye Lucille is the story of Vincent, is a Nigerian-born photographer eking out a freelance existence in Berlin during the sweltering summer of 1985. Alienated from the aunt and uncle who brought him up after his parents died in a car crash, resentful of his accountant brother's respectable life, Vincent has let himself go. Overweight and drinking heavily, he embarks on one-night-stands while his long-distance relationship with Lucille, his girlfriend in London, unravels miserably.

Starbook / Ben Okri
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2007
422p.;

ISBN 9789780799946
$ 20.00

"Starbook" tells the delicate story of a prince and a maiden who are both tested by trials in a mythical land where art, initiation and dynamic stillness are supremely important. At another level, this rich and stimulating novel opens up the nature of reality, where the essence of life is revealed, and the source of enchantment can be ours - where beauty, regeneration and fulfilment are perhaps possible. A dazzling achievement of the imagination, and a profound work of literature of the kind that won Ben Okri the Booker Prize for "The Famished Road", his new novel is a pleasure to read, with an unforgettable radiance of its own. For, no matter where we live and who we think we are, we all have access to the oracle, and a vision of life far greater than ourselves, which comes from 'the book of life among the stars'.

Allah Is not Obligated / Ahmadou Kourouma
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2000
215p.;
ISBN 9789780799922
$ 13.50

Birahima is ten years old. He lives in the Ivory Coast. He is a soldier. In Ahmadou Kourouma's powerful new novel, Birahima tells his story. At the age of ten his mother dies, and Birahima leaves his native village, accompanied by the sorcerer/crook Yacouba, to search for his aunt Mahan. Crossing the border into Liberia, they are seized by a rebel force and press-ganged into military service. Birahima is given a Kalashnikov, minimal rations of food, a small supply of dope and a tiny wage. Fighting in a totally chaotic civil war, and alongside many other boys, some no older than he, Birahima sees death, torture, amputation and madness, but somehow manages to retain his own sanity...Ahmadou Kourouma's masterpiece, written by a truly great writer, the book is powerful, terrible and frequently bitterly funny.

Purple Hibiscus / Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie
Lagos, Nigeria : Farafina, 2003
310p.;
ISBN 9780646922
$ 10.00

Purple Hibiscus, Nigerian-born writer Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie's debut, begins like many novels set in regions considered exotic by the western reader: the politics, climate, social customs, and, above all, food of Nigeria (balls of fufu rolled between the fingers, okpa bought from roadside vendors) unfold like the purple hibiscus of the title, rare and fascinating. But within a few pages, these details, however vividly rendered, melt into the background of a larger, more compelling story of a joyless family. Fifteen-year-old Kambili is the dutiful and self-effacing daughter of a rich man, a religious fanatic and domestic tyrant whose public image is of a politically courageous newspaper publisher and philanthropist. No one in Papa's ancestral village, where he is titled "Omelora" (One Who Does For the Community), knows why Kambili's brother cannot move one of his fingers, nor why her mother keeps losing her pregnancies. When a widowed aunt takes an interest in Kambili, her family begins to unravel and re-form itself in unpredictable ways.
