68p.
9788073646
$ 10.00 / PB
84gm.

As the main theme of this book is not only an effort to negate the theory of the Palestine origin of the Efik people, but also to attempt to nullify certain of those historical trends in Africa as they are presented to us by some foreign pens. Most of these appear to stand on sandy soils because they cannot stand any historical scrutiny.

This book by many treasured contributors is a modest beginning in a rather focused lens on Ibom art forms crafts, but mostly the performative offerings of the rich culture of Akwa Ibom State people of South South Nigeria. Culture, which among others, is a people's way of life, indeed has its beautiful renderings to Ibom people. In beliefs, practices and etiquette, morality and spirituality, motifs, arts and crafts, behavioural patterns, language and styles, songs, music, dance and theatre, marriage, coronation, burial, games and more. Culture has truly been most fair, perhaps a lot fairer than the size of the National Cake usually extended to Ibom people.

Brutality Frank : The Autobiography of Edwin Kiagbodo Clark / Edwin Kiagbodo Clark

xiv, 690p.

Includes Index

9789785997958

$ 100.00 / HB

1410gm.

Brutally Frank is the autobiography of an elder statesman and frontline advocate of truth, fairness, justice, and equity in Nigeria, Chief (Dr.) Edwin Kiagbodo Clark, OF, CON. Written in a simple language, the book tells the story of Edwin Clark right from his forebears till his present. But beyond being the story of just a man and his life, Edwin Clark's story intersects with those of the Ijaws, the Urhobos and the entire Niger Delta on one hand, and the Nigerian nation on the other hand. Therefore, in this book, the history of Nigeria and the vital events that contributed to its current outlook are captured and told as they are in a brutally frank manner!

In this remarkable and inspiring book, Ayodele takes you through two painful journeys of loss - her father at a young age, and more recently, her husband. Interweaving these stories so seamlessly in a way that shows her rawest, most intense emotions, Ayodele highlights the unfathomable pain of grief and the powerful lessons for anyone willing to grow through the process. Ayodele also subtly touches on how friends and family can better support people going through some type of loss. We very often don't know what to do or say in these situations; Ayodele is showing us how to do better.

Oyinbo Karimu: The Story of a Girl Whose Journey Rest on Faith / Mariam Bakre

xii, 236p.

9789786051703

$ 30.00 / PB

314gm.

Oyinbo Karimu is a memoir. A self-help book that can change the life of anybody who lays their hands on it if they allow it. I spent 13 years of my life on Karimu street, a rural area along the axis of Ojuelegba. Raised by a single mum and her grandparents, I had to grow up fast. And with this growth came a lot of knowledge that I don't think is mine alone to keep. I have gone ahead to share this knowledge with the hope that it will better the lives of the people that come in contact with the book. In this book, I talked about what it means to be raised in the ghetto and how I navigated it, I talked about how my faith carried me through so much and how I came about the faith, I talked about my encounter with abuse, I talked about motherhood and friendship and so much more.

This is an autobiography of a Sickle cell Survivor albeit it is also a history book.

This book sensitizes people to understand the unfortunate situation of sickle cell survivors. The victims need love, care and support. Humans have speculated on possible lifespans of persons living with the condition, but Kadimo's submission to live "one day at a time" is more practical. By the action of sharing knowledge through this work, Kadimo has contributed significantly towards liberating mankind from avoidable mistakes.

This book is not an attempt to tell every graduate to forget about paid employment because some people's fulfilment in life might lie in that. It is absolutely a sincere guide for those who do not want to graduate and join others who are stuck in the labour market. It is for those who want to seek other alternatives to paid employment if white-collar jobs are unavailable for them. Are you an undergraduate or graduate? You must understand your place in the labour market after graduation so that you can stand out from the crowd. In simple and clear terms, this book takes you through that journey of transformation.

The Life and Times of Imran: A Family Story in a Nation's History / Bayo Adeola
Nigeria: Quramo Publishing & CPMS Limited, 2022
xx, 652p.
Includes Index
9789787901281
$ 65.00 / PB
902gm.

The Life of Imran is a story of a simple, ordinary, everyday Egba man, from his birth in 1917 to his demise in 2006, a period of over 89 years. The story takes us through his journey of life, from Abeokuta to Ibadan and finally Lagos where he spent a significant part of his life. We walk with him from the death of his mother when he was just three years old, through his truncated education, to the arranged marriage with his first wife. The Times of Imran is the context in which all these happened. It covers the period from the formation of Abeokuta in 1830, through the arrival of Christianity in the town in 1842, the several wars with its neighbours, the Treaty of Friendship and Commerce with Great Britain in 1893, and the Amalgamation that created Nigeria in 1914.

The book has critically examined themes covering many aspects of the history of Africa. Divided into two major parts, Part I covers the African past from earliest times to the 16th century, while Part II takes the story of African development in the face of European incursion to the 19th century. The book gives adequate attention to events and influences emerging from Asia and the Muslim world, as well as those from north and south of the Sahara including major events of historical significance from Christian Europe. The impact of Islam and Christianity in the course of African development is also critically appraised.

This book emanates from the desire to carefully evaluate and put in proper viewpoint the International Court of Justice judgement regarding the territorial dispute between Cameroon and Nigeria over their land and maritime frontiers commonly called the "Bakassi dispute". In particular, it aims at providing answers to questions bordering on the main issues of the case, the law applied, the use of diplomacy and politic in the eventual resolution of the dispute.

Accordingly, the book puts the Bakassi dispute in perspective by evaluating all the normative instruments cited and used by the court. Furthermore, the entire case as made out by Cameroon and Nigeria as contained in their Memorial, Counter-Memorial, Reply and Rejoinder was legally weighed.

There is still a very great need for many languages of the world to be reduced to writing, particularly languages spoken in Nigeria, many of which are minority languages. These minority languages attract very little attention, in the midst of a few majority languages, and many have no alphabets. Phonemic Analysis provides the techniques for writing languages. Although there are many books on the subject, some of them are quite technical for both beginners and ordinary speakers of the languages who may be interested in writing in their languages. This book, An Introduction to Phonemic Analysis, is intended to feed this need. It is meant for everyone with an interest to write in any language that had not been written before.

The Nigerian Languages Project (NLP) is a project of the Department of Linguistics and Nigerian Languages, University of Uyo. It provides a database of the languages of Nigeria following the six geopolitical zones the South South, South East, South West, North East, North Central and North West. The Project surveys the 774 Local Government Areas (LGAs), and presents the languages and their varieties, as well as estimates of the speakers. It also provides political maps, as a guide, which are converted to linguistic maps of the zones in the Nigerian Languages Series.

The Languages of Southern Nigeria: A Geopolitical Profile is the 5th edition in the series and it covers the seventeen States in the three southern geopolitical zones. It is the first volume that has a preliminary linguistic map.

Apart from the unavoidable eulogies in honour of Professor Chris Nwamuo at 70, this book has been compartmentalized from the angles reviewed by the numerous contributors. The segment of play writing bears critical perspectives of writers on Nwamuo's thematic approaches. Similarly, the Theatre in Education Segment is a review of the Professor's works in the discipline throughout his career as an academic giant. The media segment is an evidence of Nwamuo as a workaholic and a professional in Theatre-Media related disciplines.

Njikoka Amaka: Further Discussions on the Philosophy of Integrative Humanism (A Contribution to African and Intercultural Philosophies) presents philosophy from the view point of African thought system and logic. It presents African philosophy not as a reactionary to another brand of philosophy as is popularly the case among writers of African philosophy but as an unspoken, unstated rival of the positions of other philosophical traditions, with great emphasis on the importance of intercultural philosophizing.

This book is a reaction against young Levy Bruhl's position that the world's (African) thought is pre- logical. Systematically therefore it exposes first the influence of positivism and two valued Logic on Bruhl which made him to be anti- spiritualism and second interpreted African thought from two- valued logic point of view. This wrong interpretational tool resulted to his "onslaught on African thought" which is the subject of the book's reaction. This book 's position is that every interpretation stems from a particular logic and this logic needs to evolve from the same ontological context with the phenomenon that is to be interpreted. The implication of this is that, there is a bio conditional structural relationship between every logic and its cultural ontology.

Have you ever doubted Greek origin of Western Philosophy or wondered about the irony that Greek government persecuted Socrates and Plato for corrupting the youth? This volume shows that African priest-scholars of the Egyptian Mystery System originated philosophy; that Thales, Pythagoras, Plato, Aristotle lived in Africa and studied under these priests. Some Greek historians: Plutarch, Diogenes Laertius, Herodotus, Plato, Aristotle; and modern writers: William Stace, Alfred Benn, James Breasted, etc. testify to Greeks' studentship in Egypt. Citing Egyptian texts, the author reveals that the doctrines of Greek philosophers have their prototypes in earlier Egyptian philosophy. However, in their determination to maintain racial and intellectual superiority over Africans, Western historians, since the 18th century, subverted history by attributing the origin of philosophy to the Greeks. The author calls for the restoration of 'truth' to the history of the 'king' of disciplines---Philosophy.

Until 1954, Nigeria operated as a colonial unitary state. In 1954, Nigeria adopted federalism as a mechanism for managing conflicts among its heterogeneous populations. Why did Nigeria's political leaders adopt federalism?

In this book, Prof. J. Isawa Elaigwu provides some answers to these questions. The Politics of Federalism in Nigeria is as interesting as it is intriguing.

This text mirrors aspects of Euro-America strategic encounters in Africa from the nineteenth century to the present. The varying perspectives, interpretations and engagements of world powers in the African continent have been modestly and vividly mainstreamed into a single volume. United States internationalism seemingly dwarfed European activities in Africa; yet, European diplomatic and other engagements in Africa cannot be glossed over. Bi-lateral and Multi-lateral encounters between the continents reinforces Africa's quest for enabling environment that appreciates its enormous contributions to the global economy.

Compendium of Election Results in Kwara State Dr. Abubakar Olusola Saraki's Factor as a brain behind the winning train, is a book that contains the election results of Kwara State beginning from 1976-2007. Political Observers with particular reference to Kwara State believe that whoever Dr. Abubakar Olusola Saraki, the Waziri of Ilorin and a former Senate Leader gave his backing from Chief Executive of the State down to the Local Government Councillors came victoriously political, ethnic or religious affiliation, notwithstanding.

To buttress the above assertion, the results of all the elections in Kwara State since 1976 to date showed that his influence constituted the only factor which made whatever political party he threw his weight behind wins at the general election.

United States Policy towards Africa since the cold war can best be understood from the perspective of the bipolar world which post dated the second world war.

The ideologization of US foreign policy conditioned its African policy which wavered between "vital interest" and "liberal internationalist view. These views competed for acceptance and application to the effect that African countries which set independent paths to modernization and prosperity were either denied, destabilized or neglected. It is for this reason that some scholars have argued that the United States has no policy towards Africa, while others contend that the ideologization of US foreign policy has been inimical to the progress and development of African states.

"The inspiration and motivation to write this book came after the controversial 2015 general elections in Nigeria. This book deals with some burning issues like the electronic card reader, the Presidential system of governance, the Niger Delta crisis and religious violence. It also discusses some banal and outrageous ideologies such as multiple voting, hate speeches, corruption and so on. It proffers alternatives [alternative] solutions and allows readers to be the judge. These norms are judged as apolitical and inconsequential in our political system."

140gm.

The black man, just as the black race, is always a common pronoun which is often used to describe, direct, or to point to certain people or a particular continent around the world. The African people are victims of the derogatory label 'Blacks' which is an ostensible motive use, especially at international milieu to undermine the people of the black race. The title of the book, "The Nature of a Black Man; The African Experience", depicts the attitudes and life style of the African people, their thoughts, philosophy, development and underdevelopment, sense of judgment, and their related leadership operation during and after independence of African States.
