Leonardo da Vinci is a painter, an architect, an engineer and a scientist. He is the most remarkable talent of the Italian Renaissance. His longing for knowledge made him a master in a diverse range of fields, yet despite his versatility he left only a small number of oil paintings with the world.

With the new Opera Omnia scanning and printing technologies, the audience can now appreciate at one exhibition the high-definition, full-sized replicas of 17 da Vinci's masterpieces, housed separately in top museums around the world.

These 23 maps of the Penan tribal rainforest in Malaysia are the result of a fifteen-year ground-breaking community mapping project. In collaboration with Swiss cartographers of the Bruno Manser Fund, Penan tribesmen use modern mapping technology to trace their ancient heritage, identifying significant nomadic camps, burial sites, and blowpipe trees as well as dominant topographical features.

The Penan Community Maps aim at reflecting the diversity of the Penan culture. Each map sheet consists of eight parts. While the front page displays a picture of the Penan tradition, the overview allows a simple localisation of each map sheet. All symbols and elements used on the topographic map are listed within the caption. For each map, an area-specific oral history and various pictures were selected. A drone-based aerial imagery reveals the Penan villages from the top. The villages' endorsement of the maps is given through the signature (fingerprint) of the responsible headmen.

These maps are a testament to the importance of maps for indigenous rights, and the project wants to be a model for similar struggles across the globe.

Biography/Memoirs

Taking Charge of My Life / Neelambika
 Petaling Jaya: Neelambika A Kanapathi Pillai, 2019
 x, 64p.

1. Neelambika – Anecdotes.
2. Family violence– Anecdotes.
3. Marital violence – Anecdotes.
4. Anecdotes.

$ 10.00 / PB
90gm.

Domestic violence, particularly marital rape, is an abominable class of crimes that's under the radar in Malaysian public discourse. Many women have become victims, suffering in silence and without hope to live a fulfilling and rewarding life. They remain scared and traumatized for the rest of their days. Further, there is no political will to address this issue squarely in the eye and to legislate to criminalise marital rape.

Neelambika is a victim of marital rape. Even after her divorce, she suffered alone, haunted by the devastation to her well-being. Gradually, she rebuilt her life and dealt with the emotions that plagued her. She has now summoned the courage to speak up, and share her story publicly. Today, she considers herself as a survivor, and no longer a victim. Neelambika actively advocates for public education on the ills of marital rape, and for this scourge to be eliminated as a societal evil. She believes in the right of a wife to be treated as an equal partner in marriage, both emotionally and physically. Neelambika is a volunteer with Women's Aid Organisation.

Pictorial Guide To Oil Palm Cultivation and Mammalian Pests

"Just like the earlier sister book, Pictorial Guide to Common Weeds of Plantations also by ACT, this book is both a beauty and a beast, a coffee-table book packed with pictures and information on oil palm cultivation and mammalian pests of oil palm.

The book is written with confidence and clarity that comes with hands-on experience of the three authors. It is certainly produced with a heart for the planter.

Planters will certainly love to pick up this pictorial guide because it looks and feels like a magazine. Then, they can select the relevant information to suit their needs. Planters aside, family members and friends will also be attracted to the lovely pictures, and especially to the montage of photos on both covers.

If planters fall for the pictures in this book, then more than half the battle is already won. Imagine asking ourselves to pick up a text book, much less read it! The pictorial guide is half A4 size which makes it so easy to hold; and the photos will wow and delight you to no end. It has colored book marks on the margin for quick and easy access to each of the four parts: Oil Palm Cultivation; Rats; Other Mammalian Pests; and Miscellaneous Items." - - Mr. CHIU Sheng Bin, ACT

The presence of government-linked entities as influential players in the financial markets and economy sets Malaysia's business ecosystem apart from competitive market-based systems. Ownership and control of these entities give the government considerable power and influence over the appointments and the remuneration packages of their directors. A wave of scandals involving these entities has worsened confidence in the performance of their boards of directors and raised questions on the role of their remuneration practices. But little is known to date on these practices.

The quality of education is a concept that is critical in the realm of knowledge development for in-depth analysis using various design and research methodologies. From an organizational perspective, education quality is focused on aspects in education development such as quality learning, curriculum and its implementation, quality of teachers' education and services, infrastructure and facilities, student achievement and performance through evaluations and examinations. All these elements combine to form the concept of Total Quality Management (TQM).

This book is an attempt to analyse holistically the use of quality teacher education programme from the perspective of TQM concept. It is a strategic tool adopted to highlight the key issues that have often been discussed by researchers, evaluators and planners of higher education institutions, particularly in Indonesia.

The obsession with world rankings and vocational training has turned universities into factories for the production of students and publications. Teaching plays second fiddle to research output, normally circulated within a small circle of 'experts' to be validated or condemned to the abyss, leading to the justifiable charge that universities are ivory towers. In Emancipated Education Dr Azhar Ibrahim's call to reclaim the space of what he calls the educative front, as a site for emancipation, is timely and urgent. Channelling the thoughts of giants like Paulo Freire and N.F.S. Grundtvig, the book articulates the higher purpose of higher education. It serves to re-humanise the human process of learning that we may have harmed. – Dr Nazry Bahrawi

Over nearly 1,500 years of history, Islam has produced extraordinary intellectual innovation characterised by limitless curiosity and creativity. It has inspired profound theological and philosophical debate, a rich artistic legacy and great scientific discoveries. The Architects of Islamic Civilisation provides readers with concise yet detailed essays sketching the life, thought and significance of forty-three of the most prominent Muslim thinkers responsible for this rich tradition, individuals from as far afield as North Africa, Europe, the Middle East, India, Southeast Asia and China. Stretching from the time of the Prophet Muhammad down to the late twentieth century, the book outlines the intellectual foundations of Islam, its multifaceted development through the classical period and, finally, its modern quest for reform and revival. Presenting a broad and inclusive range of Muslim thinkers, The Architects of Islamic Civilisation will be of interest to both general readers and students alike.

DIGITAL COPYRIGHT LAW OF MALAYSIA / Sik Cheng Peng
Malaysia: THOMSON REUTERS ASIA SDN. BHD, 2020

1v.
9789672339311
$ 80.00 /PB

- The first book on digital copyright law in Malaysia
- Presents the legal position of the emerging copyright issues in the digital sphere in Malaysia
- Makes comparative references to other jurisdictions including the United States, the United Kingdom, and Australia
- Examines the copyright concerns relating to the latest technological developments including cloud computing and artificial intelligence
- The discussion is supported and illustrated with the relevant Malaysian and foreign case law

The fast-developing digital environment has brought about new copyright issues. The ever-changing technologies and activities taking place in the online environment raise fresh copyright questions at a rate that exceeds the pace of the formulation of solutions. Despite the wide interest in digital technologies and the accompanying copyright issues, there is a dearth of legal reference materials which address these issues.

This book examines the copyright issues arising in relation to digital technologies, including the internet, under the copyright law of Malaysia, with comparative reference to the law of other jurisdictions, namely, the United States, the United Kingdom, and Australia. Arguably the first of its kind in Malaysia, this book provides valuable information and guidance to legal advisors, copyright owners, business owners in the digital space, judges and policymakers.

MALAYSIAN TORT LAW / Wan Azlan Ahmad & Mohsin Hingun

Malaysia: THOMSON REUTERS ASIA SDN. BHD, 2019

1v.
9789672187981
$ 100.00 / HB

Adopting an analytical approach, this book presents a comprehensive coverage of tort law in Malaysia. Besides the tort of negligence which takes central focus, less common torts like wrongs in relation to legal process, breach of statutory duty, harassment, liability for animals and intentional tort to the person are given due coverage. Other popular areas of tort like nuisance, occupiers' liability, defamation and product liability are provided careful consideration. The topics of vicarious liability, remedies and applicable defences are explored in depth to complete the discussion in this book.

The book endeavours to consider Malaysian tort law in light of development in major Commonwealth jurisdictions, covering matters that have and have not been considered by local appellate courts. Where specific issues are not covered by local precedent, the book attempts to point the way forward for the future development of Malaysian law, guided by judicial opinion and discussions of policy considerations overseas.

The authors have drawn on their deep experience to meticulously analyse the law to prepare a text that will benefit practitioners, judges, judicial officers, academics and students.

KEY FEATURES

The law is succinctly explained, in many instances displaying its development

Reference is made to developments in major Commonwealth countries to add depth to the discussion and analysis

Relevant judicial dicta are quoted to support the statements of law
Possible directions for the future development of Malaysian law are carefully considered

Contains extensive reference to local and foreign case law

Content is structured in detail for the easy appreciation of readers

LAW AND PRACTICE OF CORPORATE INSOLVENCY IN MALAYSIA /

General Editor: Rabindra S Nathan

Malaysia: THOMSON REUTERS ASIA SDN. BHD, 2019

1v.

9789672187776

$ 161.00 / HB

KEY FEATURES:

Contains a wealth of practical guidance on corporate insolvency practice

Panel of contributors consists of experienced corporate insolvency practitioners from both the legal and accounting professions

Fully up-to-date with citation of relevant statutory provisions

Replete with invaluable leading local and foreign case authorities

Illuminates the difficult areas of corporate insolvency law and practice, such as investigations, cross-border insolvency and company voluntary arrangements

When companies are successful, businesses prosper. When companies can no longer pay their debts, they become insolvent, and businesses fail.

In addressing the complex technical subject of corporate insolvency, this textbook provides invaluable legal and practical guidance from an experienced group of legal and accountancy practitioners writing in collaboration. Contemporary challenges which face both practitioners and judges are addressed by incisive analysis and commentary.

This book deals comprehensively with the law of corporate insolvency in Malaysia, as follows:

discusses schemes of arrangement judicial management and company voluntary arrangements under the Companies Act 2016
the winding-up process
the effects of winding-up, proof, valuation and ranking of claims the avoidance of antecedent transactions investigations
proceedings against the directors tax in liquidation and more

The practical and analytical approach taken by this book greatly helps both those who are new to corporate insolvency practice in Malaysia as well as lawyers who would find the materials and references in this book a useful point of first reference.

Malaysia: LexisNexis, 2019

2v.

9789674008420

$ 250.00 (Set)

This edition looks at recent decisions, including case law from other jurisdictions, on the National Land Code, and analyses their relationship to the operation of the Code. In particular, references are made to cases in contract law, and equity, trusts and remedies, which are influential and relevant in the operation of land matters. This is especially so, where the cases are applicable to the principles of statutory contract law and to local influences on equitable principles. Recent legislative amendments made in the last several years are accompanied by explanatory commentary on the need for the amendments and their application. This title also considers the concept of indefeasibility in detail, along with interests or rights in land which are outside the scope of the Code, that could be dealt with in contract, but is given some relevance to land ownership.

Banking Law - 5th Edition / Professor Datin Dr Lee Mei Pheng (Author), Datuk Detta Samen (Author), Ivan Jeron Detta
Malaysia: LexisNexis, 2019

1v.

9789674008369

The first edition of Banking Law was published in 1995. In the 25 years since then, with the advent of electronic, internet, and mobile banking, this area of law in Malaysia has undergone many changes. The banking industry has also faced new obstacles, both domestically and abroad, owing to concerns like compliance, corporate governance, ethics, risk management, financial crimes, and money laundering. With this, we have seen the landscape of the banking industry change drastically, now facing more challenges and becoming more regulated.

This Fifth Edition encompasses the many developments since the last edition was published in 2012, including changes that we have seen to the legislation, regulations, case law, and other legal issues. This information is beneficial to a vast audience, including regulators, supervisors, bankers, professionals, corporations and businesses, and students. In line with the previous publications, this new edition provides crucial insight into the wide areas of banking law but remains in a format easy to understand.

Contract Law in Malaysia, 2nd Edition / Abdul Majid bin Nabi Baksh (Author), Krishnan Arjunan (Author)
Malaysia: LexisNexis, 2019

1v.

9789674008536

This second edition of the text offers a thoroughly updated and comprehensive account of the law of contract including chapters on Assignment, Bailment and Guarantees and Indemnities, and presents an in-depth exposition of these and other topics in Contract Law in prose that is clear, concise and readable. Case authorities are drawn from the United Kingdom and other common law jurisdictions where relevant, to supplement the extensive reference to local cases in the context of the Contracts Act 1950 and related legislation. The authors have drawn on their extensive experience in professional legal practice, teaching contract law in diverse jurisdictions and a track record of academic research and publication in Malaysia and elsewhere. A salient feature of the text is that detailed case summaries and extracts from leading judgments are set out in support of the legal principles involved. This approach not only assists the student in appreciating the underlying legal processes but also to use the book as a 'stand-alone' text.

Janab's Key To The Law of Evidence, Advocacy and Professional Ethics, written by Justice Datuk Dr Hj. Hamid Sultan Bin Abu Backer, is now successfully in its 5th edition updated up to the third quarter of 2018. It is a must for all legal practitioners, whether in criminal or civil practice, and equally for all law lecturers and students. A mastery of this subject is indispensable for any advocate.

Dato' Seri Chan Sek Keong, the former Chief Justice of Singapore, in his foreword to the fourth edition of this book said "For those who ... do not have personal knowledge of the more recent developments ... whether through legislation or court decisions, this book provides the key to open the treasure-house of ... case law on ... the Evidence Act."

The law of evidence is so linked with advocacy and professional ethics that this edition, revised by Dato' Mah Weng Kwai and prominent legal practitioners Arun Kasi and Datuk Joy Appukuttan, has been added with an additional part to cover advocacy and professional ethics. Apart from that, this book is divided into two parts on the law of evidence. One covers all aspects of the law of evidence in 61 sub-chapters and another is a commentary on all the 167 sections of the Evidence Act 1950.

Hamid Sultan Bin Abu Backer, covers 15 areas of civil law, namely, Contract, Guarantee, Bailment, Agency, Specific Relief, Receivers and Managers, Partnership, Sale of Goods, Hire-purchase, Winding-up, Probate and Administration, Personal Injury (including Fatal and Dependency Claims), Family Law, Industrial Relations and Bankruptcy. Dato' K.C. Vohrah, judge of Court of Appeal (Rtd.), in his message for the first edition of this book noted "The author has approached his subjects in a simple, practical and lucid manner. Like all his previous works, this series is bound to be a guide to various aspects of the law. This will undoubtedly be an invaluable source of reference material to all those who are involved in the study, practice and administration of justice in Malaysia."

This 2nd edition updated up to the third quarter of 2018, with Dato' Mah Weng Kwai and YA Dato' Lim Chong Fong, judge of High Court of Malaya as consultant editors, is a comprehensive guide for every civil practitioner, law teacher and student, who wish to gain an in-depth knowledge and grasp a mastery of civil law.

Janab's Key To Practical Conveyancing and Islamic Banking, now in its 3rd edition updated up to the third quarter of 2018, is a must companion to every conveyancing practitioner and to law teachers and students. The late lawyer, jurist and philanthropist Mr. Hariram Jayaram in his foreword to the second edition of this book expressed "This book provides updates on substantive law, practice and procedure and serves as a useful addition to a conveyancing practitioner's library. It is also handy as a quick reference guide containing useful checklist for junior practitioners and law students in this area of law ... the author uses plain, direct language to make the book as readable as possible."

The "Malaysian Civil Procedure and Practice" highlights the procedural rules relating to civil practice and procedure. The chapters in this book come with several distinctive features and are well-explained in a clear and direct language. Each topic is accompanied with court forms and precedents which set out the manner a form is to be drafted applying the procedural rule and applicable law. A flow chart and a useful tool known as "Learn Through Questions" series is provided at the end of each chapter, as a guide for readers to have a clearer understanding of the procedural processes applied in court. Practitioners, students and those involved and interested in the Malaysian civil court justice system would find this book as a useful tool.

This novel is set against the background of the Malay Peninsula and Singapore during the Second World years of 1941 to 1945. As implied from the title, it is not merely a story about two generals, Yamashita and Percival, but also the effect of their decisions upon the lives of people who were caught in the war the British residents and the locals of diverse cultures.

The novel focuses on the theme of love and war. It discusses the frailties of human emotion that led to both. It portrays the lives of the various societies there at the time before, during and after the outbreak of the war: first the British, the elite society during the colonial years with their comfortable life, quite ignorant of Japanese clandestine activities, which were to have such a profound effect on their lives soon after. Amidst all these the novel also portrays the love, illicit and otherwise that inevitably grew out the events related to the war.

In addition, the novel also looks at other parts of the social environment, at the effects of the war on the local population: the Malays who saw the war as an opportunity to prepare themselves towards self-government and independence; the Chinese who looked upon the Japanese as their bitter enemies for invading their homeland, China, and who must oppose at all costs; the Indians who were indifferent to all events around them; their main concern being to earn just enough for themselves and for their families back home in India.

This is a novel dominated by historical facts related to the war period interlaced with fictional events related to the life and the loves of the fictional characters during the war. It carries a message about the meaninglessness of war; that pride of the victor is just temporary and trivial but the human suffering caused by the war is unfathomable and simply unforgivable.

Suliza is a feminist professor who discovers her sexuality while at an Islamic religious school. After her first relationship ends in tragedy, Suliza moves to the United States to continue her studies; there, she starts researching and advocating for human rights, a journey which takes her from Cornell to Geneva and Stockholm.

Upon her return to Malaysia, she and her lawyer friend Maria are frequently the targets of conservative groups for their activism and sexuality but when Suliza meets Hashimah, a cleaner at her university whose abusive husband is a wanted terrorist, the dangers become even greater. When Hashimah's husband is arrested an Islamist mob descends on Suliza's house, leading to her tragic death. Crossing borders and cultures, Faisal Tehrani's The Professor is a love story but also a meditation on the meaning of justice, sexuality and religion in a society increasingly dominated by extremism.

In her first debut collection of poems and stories, Chloe turns her focus to the process of growth and the points of intersection between life's highs and lows. She captures the dizzying euphoria of new love, holds space for the anguish of loss and unearths beauty hidden in the mundane. As we delve into questions of meaning and purpose, these poems and stories are an honest exploration of pain, healing, mortality as well as a collection of voices she has picked up along the journey.
