978-99933-43-91-2
$ 15.00

[Unravelling the Mosaic : Spatial Aspects of Ethnicity in Nepal is being published at a time of rising identity consciousness in Nepal. Public discourse is dominated by the idea of reconfiguring the state along federal lines and a number of competing models of a federal state have been offered, ranging from those that hark back to an atavistic past that would federate the state along traditional territories of origin of some dominant groups to those that claim a basis in economic rationalism.]

Kathmandu : Vajra Publications, c2008
132 p. ; 21 cm.
978-99946-506-05-2
$ 50.00

[DROKPA is a stunning portrait of the nomads of the Tibetan Plateau and Himalaya. Once widespread throughout the world, nomadic cultures are vanishing, High and remote, the grazing lands of Tibet and adjoining areas of Bhutan, India and Nepal still support nomads and their livestock. With evocative photographs and insightful text, the American rangeland ecologist Daniel Miller presents a visual record of these remarkable people who make a living moving with their animals in one of the harshest environments on earth.]
