Exploring Emotional History
Gender, Mentality and Literature in the Indian Awakening

Author : Rajat Kanta Ray

Do emotions have history? Whose emotions does the writer, poet or diarist portray in an emotionally divided society? What are the theoretical problems confronting the historian of mentality? What ideological blinkers prevent the historian from being empathetic to the study of something as elusive as emotions and mentality?

This book seeks to answer some of these questions.

Women, War and Peace in South Asia
Beyond Victimhood to Agency
Editor : Rita Manchanda

Perhaps the first to develop a gender analysis of conflict in South Asia, this volume challenges the centrality of men's experiences and theorisations of conflict. Instead it focuses on women's experiences as representing alternative and non-violent ways of negotiating the construction of conflictual identities, and on women's perspectives which privilege the notion of a 'just' peace.
