It studies the cause and consequences of global hegemony, its relationship to oil, the global economy, global politics, security, violence, and inter-faith ties. It shows how global hegemony impacts upon specific countries, Most of all, the book spells out in lucid language how global hegemony effect each and every one of us-citizens of planet earth. It also analyzes in depth the resistance.

Winning Strategies of Anwar Ibrahim / Mutharasan

Malaysia : Focus Media Enterprise, 2008

231p.

$ 12.00

This book is an objective analysis of the strategies and meticulous planning employed by Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim which enabled the opposition to win five states and 82 parliamentary constituencies at the recent 12th general elections, thereby denying the ruling Barisan Nasional its two thirds majority in parliament. The author focuses on the details of the strategies planned by Anwar Ibrahim months before the general elections and how he successfully implemented them. The issues which were capitalized upon by Anwar Ibrahim and the factors that helped and propelled him to achieve his historic success are also discussed. Interesting theories and explanations are provided as to how the once indomitable Barisan Nasional was weakened over the years to be defeated so badly at the 2008 polls.

3. Social movements – Singapore – History- Congresses.

$ 29.90

Singapore's era of pluralism between the 1950s and 1970s was a time of extraordinary cultural, intellectual and political dynamism. Students, labour unions, ambitious political contenders, and representatives of the various ethnic communities all stepped forward to offer alternate visions of Singapore's future from across the entire political spectrum. They generated a ferment of ideologies, priorities. Perspectives and social visions such as mainstream "official" Singapore political has never known before and has not seen since.
