Quest for Political Power : Communist Subversion and Militancy in Singapore / Bilveer Singh

Marshall Cavendish, Singapore 2014

296p.

9789814634069

$ 35.00 / PB

The history of communism in Malaya (including Singapore) almost coincided with the rise and fall of communism worldwide, best epitomized in Europe by the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989. Operating through the Malayan Communist Party, communism posed an existential threat to Malaya. While the communist threat in peninsular Malaya was manifested dramatically in armed struggle with guerrillas in the jungle, in Singapore it was primarily in the form of united front subversive activities, interspersed with episodes of violence and assassinations.

This new book examines the MCP's quest for political power in Singapore in the midst of a raging Cold War between communism and the free world, with particular focus on events in the 1950s and 1960s. From its close collaboration with the two leading communist great powers (USSR and China) to its united front strategy of infiltrating student, trade union and political organizations, the MCP's activities are related here in a clear and engaging manner.

Brain Porn - The Best of the Daily Maverick / Daily Maverick

Tafelberg Publishers, South Africa 2014

240p.;

9780624070672

$ 23.25 / HB

Daily Maverick, the country's leading online news service, has been making sense of the madness that is South African reality for the past five years. Brain Porn offers the best of their irreverent writing.

Its team of highly respected journalists and contributors includes Stephen Grootes, Ranjeni Munusamy, Pierre de Vos, Jay Naidoo, Ivo Vegter and Alex Eliseev. With their anti-establishment attitude and a "stuff you" approach to political spin-doctoring, they spare no-one as they dissect daily news events and people in the news. Expect well-argued opinions and fresh analysis on the issues that move people.

All the usual suspects are on the list: the President, the Commander-in-Chief, the Blade Runner, the Public Protector, the DA's election dramas, the firepool at Nkandla, etolls, Marikana, but this time written about in a way that will challenge your accepted beliefs and dare you to think differently.

Award-winning cartoonist Jerm's spot-on analysis and commentary provide a highly entertaining way to digest the buffoonery of politics in South Africa. No one, neither left nor right, in government or opposition, can escape the acerbic observations of this provocative artist. Jeremy Nell's work has appeared in several online and offline publications, such as the Sunday Times, eNCA, TIME, The Star, City Press, Beeld, The Times, Rolling Stone, Daily Dispatch, Daily Maverick, The New Age, EWN and others.

Remaking the ANC - Party Change in South Africa and the Global South / Anthony Butler

Jacana Media, South Africa 2014

288p.;
9781431420193
$ 28.50 / HB

Although the ANC has been in power now for twenty years and looks set to continue in office for some time yet, its hold on power is neither permanent nor assured, and sometime in the future it is safe to say it will be voted out of office. This is the fate faced by all liberation movements that have won power at the ballot box. The Indian National Congress, which came to office after independence in 1947, is the prime example, but such loss of power has been experienced by other political parties in the Global South. Being voted out of office is not the only fate awaiting political parties. Popular disaffection, loss of loyalty, splits and schisms, factionalism, all affect parties and in turn inspire them to change and adapt, meet the challenges or try to avert the loss of support. Yet we know little about how and why parties change in the Global South. This book explores various dimensions of internal organisational reform by examining parties from around the South. Several chapters investigate the African National Congress (ANC) in South Africa, one of several 'dominant parties' that have begun to lose their shine.

Perspectives on South Africa-China Relations at 15 Years / ED. Yazini April and Garth Shelton

HSRC Press, South Africa 2014

139p.;
9780798304733
$ 30.00 / HB

The year 2013 marked 15 years of the phenomenal diplomatic relations between South Africa and China. The relationship between South Africa and China has been developing since diplomatic ties were established on 1 January 1998. Since then, China-South African bilateral relations have undergone rapid and all-facet development. There were frequent high-level and other kinds of mutual exchanges between the two countries. The bilateral relations within the space of fifteen years have evolved from a Partnership to a Strategic Partnership, and then to a Comprehensive Strategic Partnership. Furthermore, in the Comprehensive Strategic Partnership, which was set out in the Beijing Declaration signed in 2010, the two countries expressed the desire to further strengthen and deepen cooperation in both bilateral and regional affairs by establishing a comprehensive strategic partnership based on equality, mutual benefit and common development. The agreements range from political dialogue, trade, investment, mineral exploration, manufacturing, and agriculture to joint efforts in the global arena, such as in the United Nations, the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation (FOCAC), and Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa (BRICS).
