A Practical Guide to Mental Health Law in Hong Kong / Sherlynn G Chan
Hong Kong University Press, Hongkong 2019

164p.
9789888528165
$ 26.00 / null

How can we best serve the interest of a family member who becomes mentally incapacitated because of ageing? How can parents of children with autism or Down syndrome arrange their affairs so their children will be taken care of even when they are gone? In light of the ageing population and increased life expectancy, these problems are likely to increase. A Practical Guide to Mental Health Law in Hong Kong will be a good starting point for preparing for the upcoming challenges before it is too late.

This book is divided into three parts. Part I consists of twelve modified case studies based on real-life scenarios, which provide an introduction to the relevant mental health law in Hong Kong. Part II highlights the legal procedures and practical considerations for managing the property and affairs of persons suffering from mental incapacitation (MIPs). Part III addresses alternative planning tools such as wills, enduring powers of attorney, continuing powers of attorney, and advance medical directives. The book ends with a discussion of the way forward for Hong Kong, with reference to the mental health law and legal practices in other common law jurisdictions pertinent to the protection of the interests of MIPs.

Family members, caregivers for MIPs, and professionals who are in disciplines relevant to the care of the MIPs will find this book a highly informative resource. It will also be useful for legal practitioners who are not familiar with this area of law.

Interpreting China's Legal System / Lin Li
World Scientific Publishing Co. Pte. Ltd., Singapore 2018
548p.
9789813231306
$ 165.00 / HB

This book systematically and concisely expounds the construction process of China's legal system since China's reform and opening-up. Chapter 1 defines the legal system in China and describes the development of China's legal system from 1949 to 1978. Chapter 2 introduces China's legislative system, including its historical development, division of legislative functions and power, and legislative procedures. Chapter 3 compares the differences between the law systems of other countries and China's law system and how other law system in the world influences the law system in China. Chapter 4 studies China's constitutional law system, including its historical development, forms of law and enforcement of the constitution. Chapter 5 introduces China's administrative legal system, including main principles, administrative legislation and administrative compensation. Chapters 6, 7, 8, 9 describe China's civil and commercial legal system, China's economic legal system, China's social legal system and China's criminal legal system respectively. Chapter 10 introduces China's legal system in litigation and non-litigation procedure in terms of criminal, civil, administrative and non-litigation procedures. Chapter 11 analyses the legal system in the special administrative regions in China and its relationship with China's legal system. The last chapter, Chapter 12 studies the relationship between the international law and China's domestic law system.

This book, which you now hold in your hands dear reader is a very important book by al-Imam Ash-Shawkani (May Allah shower His Blessings on him). The Imam had compiled a concise text Ad-Durar al-Bahiyyah fee al-Masaail al-Fiqhiyyah in which he outlined the most preponderant views in the matters of Fiqh based on authentic proofs and text-based reasoning. Shaykh Siddiq Hasan Khan (May Allah shower His Blessings on Him) described it as. "leaving out those of it (i.e. the opinions) that are mere thoughts since they amount to the hearsays of it and without paying attention to those that became popular (of the opinions) since the truth alone deserves to be followed..."

Shaykh Siddiq Hasan Khan continued regarding ad-Durar al-Bahiyyah, "the resemblance of this concise piece to the comprehensive works among the Books of Fiqh is like the metal mold to the dross as is known to whosoever is deeply rooted in knowledge..."

Nation in paradox is the brand new book of essays on Malaysian Constitutional Law.

Authored by lawyer G K Ganesan, it records, as would a photograph, the drama and conflicts that took place before, during and after the 14th General Elections, from a conditional point of view.

It is written in a simple style that would appeal to everyone interested in the politics of the country. It has momentum, it is compelling, In places it is funny. At others it persuades lawmakers, ministers and judges to act and bind themselves to the Rule of Law and separation of Powers.

Ratiocination in Islamic Legal Theory: Finding the Causation (Ta'lil) of Islamic Law / Mohd Daud Bakar

The book is all about rationality, logicism, coherency and to a large extent, the algorithm of predictability of Islamic law. Islamic law was never an illogical and haphazard law making process and will never be one. The challenge lies within both Islamic and non-Islamic communities focusing too much on the literature of fiqh (islamic jurisprudence) neglecting the dimensions of fatwa and qada' (opinions by mufti and judgement by judge). Rationality and coherency tend to manifest more in those dimensions relative to academic writings of the jurists (fuqaha). The good thing about the book - i reckon - is that it is comparative to Common Law and Civil Law systems respectively. As much as you will be exposed to Islamic law making process, in the process, you will be equally exposed to UK Common Law (judge law) and the Civil Law of the Continent (jurist law). The not-so-good point about the book is that it is very technical and heavy loaded. I have put special effort however to make the book readable even to ordinary man. My word of comfort though is that, if you like rationalism, the book is perfect for you irrespective of your background. I am extremely happy to be able to come back to look at my core competency which is Islamic legal theory. I really hope the book is a good contribution to both Islamic libraries and legal studies libraries of the world.

"This book is a work of scholarship but also relevant to the advocacies of the time. It is worth the read from its first page to the last."- Associate Justice Marvic M.V.F. Leonen Supreme Court of the Philippines

This collection of Articles illustrates how the law can be used to subjugate marginalized sectors in the Philippines. Laws create hierarchies based on, among other things, class, ethnicity, or gender. These pieces were written during the course of a legal practice working with rural poor communities. They challenge hierarchies created by law and supports community efforts to pressure policy makers to review the unwritten premises of the law.

This book is a humble contribution of the University of the Philippines Law Center – Institute of Human Rights (IHR) towards the promotion and protection of the rights of the Child. It shatters the myth of bullying as a rite of passage for children in schools and sheds light on this oft-misunderstood concept. It further provides a critical analysis of the Anti-Bullying Act of 2013 and assists duty bearers in the performance of their obligations.
