The 2014 Population and Housing Census - the country's first national census in 30 years - was undertaken by the Ministry of Immigration and Population with technical support from UNFPA between 30th March and 10th April 2014. 110,000 enumerators visited over 12 million households to gather data to provide social, economic and demographic characteristics of people and households for the purpose of on-going reforms, development planning and good governance. The results will be made public progressively as each stage of analysis is completed. The data will be used by the Government, universities, research centres, civil society, development partners and other data users to develop appropriate policies and programmes for the improvement of living standards of the people in Myanmar.

Gross County Product (GCP) is a geographic breakdown of Kenya's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) that gives an estimate of the size and structure of county economies. It also provides a benchmark for evaluating the growth of county economies over time. The GCP estimates are consistent with the published national GDP in the sense that the sum of the GCP is equal to national-level GDP. However, it has not been possible to distribute taxes (less subsidies) on products due to lack of sufficient details.

The 2015/16 Kenya Integrated Household Budget Survey (KIHBS) was conducted over a 12-month period to obtain up-to-date data on a range of socioeconomic indicators used to monitor the implementation of development initiatives. The Survey collected data on household characteristics, housing conditions, education, general health characteristics, nutrition, household income and credit, household transfers, information communication technology, domestic tourism, shocks to household welfare and access to justice. The findings are presented at national, county, rural and urban domains.
