This book is a collection of the citations written by the author between 1980 and 2011 at different times and in different institutions. Many of them were written at the University of Benin between 1980 and 1988 while the second group of citations was written at Benson Idahosa University between 2009 and 2015. Three of the citations were written for Igbinedion University, Okada in 2003. The citations throw into bold relief the lives and the very illustrious careers of some notable and eminent personalities here in Nigeria and abroad. The presentation is characteristically lucid, vivid and in flowing language for which the author has become well-known.

Reading them is exhilarating; the lives of the heroes and heroines come alive in a fashion that is forcefully real.

Signposts of Influence : Expositions on Bisi Adeleye-Fayemi / (Eds) Funmi
Olonisakin (et al.)

Nigeria: (Eds) Funmi Olonisakin (et al.)

162p.

$ 40.00 / PB

262gm.

This book brings together a cross-section of friends, colleagues and associates of the most dynamic, influential and formidable women's rights activists from Africa, who more realistically can be described as a citizen of the world.

Bisi Adeleye-Fayemi is better known within her home country Nigeria as 'Erulu' Bisi Fayemi the elegant, supportive and popular wife of Dr. Kaode Fayemi, Governor of Ekiti State, Nigeria. However, over two decades before her husband became a Governor, Bisi Adeleye-Fayemi was well known across Africa and many parts of the world as a feminist activist, civil society leader, strategist, social entrepreneur and social change philanthropy advocate. To celebrate the 50th birthday of this treasure of Africa in June 2013, this collection of diverse essays, a true reflection of Bisi's multi-layered networks, aims to pay tribute to her many contributions to feminist movement building and social change philanthropy. It is hoped that these essays will provide readers and opportunity to learn more about an example of African women's leadership and agency, and how one woman's capacity for love, nurturing friendships and networks, courage and dedication to hard work, has helped transform lives and communities. – Funmi Olonisakin Issues in Curriculum and Language Education is written in honour of a multi-lingual, erudite and fecund scholar in appreciation of his outstanding contributions in the Institute of Education in particular, and the University of Ibadan in general.

It is a Festschrift in honour of Professor Maclean Aderele Araromi – a lucky man who spent two good terms as Director of the Institute of Education and had the grace of appointing six Research Fellows within the two terms. This Book of Readings contain fifty-eight contributions (35 papers in Volume 1 and 23 papers in Volume II). The honored himself made three contributions (two in the area of French language and one empirical study)

The book is a unique compendium of contributions covering many aspects of the Curriculum and Language Education. The fifty-eight contributions are carefully grouped into two – Volume 1 (35 essays), and Volume II (23 empirical studies). This book is recommended for students in the areas of education and evaluation, parents and teachers at various levels.

History

Studies in Igbo History / (Ed) Dan O. Chukwu (et al.)
Enugu: Nolix Education Publication Nigeria Ltd., 2016
xxviii, 596p.
Includes Index
9782754986
$ 70.00 / PB
592gm.

The truth about the Igbo heritage and perhaps the people's influence on the other groups with whom they come in contact have always remained as complex as they are intriguing. In politics, commerce, social relations, agriculture, and so forth, the Igbo as a group have always been unique. The present volume is, therefore, a major step towards deepening an understanding of this group whose actions and/or inactions are sometimes misunderstood either from within or from without. Considered a superlative assemblage of bright scholarly ideas about the group, Studies in Igbo History is an offshoot of a history summit organized in 2011 by the South-east Zone of the Historical Society of Nigeria. The book is comprised of Thirty-three Chapters and Seven Sections. The contents are incisive and revealing.

618gm.

This twenty-chapter document is a well-researched “delightfully illuminating and comprehensive work on Osogbo town, calling up its rich and glorious past, its veracious present and highly promising future” It is a work of historical analysis shaped by the author's conception and interpretation of the past.

According to the author, this task of providing the historical analysis was approached from the sociological perspective.

This bastion of arts and culture is to shed light on the town's rich and glorious past with “the objective of filling the yawning gap necessitated by the dearth of sophisticated books on the deepness of Osogbo on all fronts. This is not just another historical book. It is a highly well-researched work of knowledge that contributes immensely to the literature on Osogbo city.

The Benin Monarchy and Ogamien Connection : The Historical Facts /

This book is an attempt to bring to limelight the issues surrounding Ogamienism in Benin history. It traces Benin history from the Owere era to Ogisos with emphasis on Ogiso Owodo's maladministration, the interregnum of Evian as a leader (Okaevbo) and Ogamien's insurgency. The history of Ekaladerhan and the Benin – Ife relationships was also brought to bear on how Oba Ewedo ruthlessly put paid to Ogamienism with the memorable battle at Ekiokpaga in about 1255 AD which ultimately eliminated all forms of republicanism in Benin Kingdom. Concerned persons (indigenes and non-indigenes) were taken aback in 2015 when Ogamien family tried to resurface the insurgency which had been eliminated about 800 years ago. This book once again is an attempt to trace the historical facts and highlight the truths of the matter for all people of goodwill.

Literature

Maeze : Returning From America / Gabriel C. Onyekuru

Abuja: The Mervyn Academy, 2017

xii, 304p.

9789789629954

$ 22.00 / PB

366gm.

Maeze's odyssey is utterly fascinating. Bred in poverty in Nigeria, he ultimately achieves the dream of every young Nigerian – living and studying in America. His careers on two continents are characterized by zeal and trailed by intrigues. Back in Nigeria, he encounters startling situations in politics and public life, career-building and property acquisition. Maeze remains incredibly idealistic through his strange and startling experiences.

The book is panoramic and captivating.

Children of the Fallen Sun is the story of Michael Abani who beguiled by a thirst for adventure, is lured into the Boy’s Company, but is soon plunged into a savage internecine war with far-reaching ripples.
By age of ten Michael has witnessed horrific atrocities and has learnt to kill.
His childhood innocence evaporates in the heat of the brutal conflict, and his experiences are further exacerbated with his eventual capture by the opposing Federation army and his internment in a child slave camp.

As there are different races and people in the world, so there are different cultures - meaning that cultural diversity is inevitable. Through human contact and association cultures meet. In such meetings every individual and culture projects itself as worthy, and should be held in high esteem. In today's world it is not encouraging to be ethnocentric - always taking action or in actions that crystallize and project a feeling of one's own culture or racial superiority. Such attitude obstructs meaningful interaction, human relations, tolerance and co-operation. Conversely, the skill and ability to tolerate and communicate effectively with people from diverse cultures is a social activity which begins from thought to behaviour, in both spoken and non-spoken versions. The book contains 19 essays, structured into five parts.
