Indigenous Shona Philosophy : Reconstructive insights / Pascah Mungwini
UNISA Press, South Africa 2017

Some of the most provocative questions confronting philosophers in Africa are grounded in the historical memory of conquest and the peripheralisation of most things African-looming as the nemesis of indigenous philosophy. Author Mungwini offers a critical reconstruction of indigenous Shona philosophy as an aspect of the African intellectual heritage held hostage by colonial modernity. In this comprehensive work, he lays bare the indigenous horizons of thinking and knowing of the Shona, who are credited with the founding of the ancient Great Zimbabwe civilisation. Retracing the epistemic thread of Shona traditions, thoughts, culture and philosophy, he explores the assumptions that inform our thinking and (in)actions, since the exchange of such knowledge is fundamental to the future of humanity.

Reincarnation : A Question in the African Philosophy of Mind / Hasskei M. Majeed

Reincarnation is a focus of much debate in modern African thought. In this challenging study, Majeed rejects the denial of the existence of reincarnation in African thought by reference to Akan culture. However, he makes a clear distinction between metempsychosis and transmigration. Linking the past - ancient religious philosophies - with present African thought in sub-Saharan Africa, he strives towards an "African philosophy of mind". Although Majeed acknowledges the popular scholarly opinion that reincarnation is a "pristine concept", he shows that it is generally an irrational one. He boldly argues that the philosophical problem of personal identity is central to the rationale of reincarnation. This very irrationality in African thought raises our understanding of the constitution of a person.

What is Morality?

Is the definition of good and evil something arbitrarily determined by someone?

Does morality vary along with areas, cultures, and eras?

Does morality, after all, have any common principle?

Do studies of morality, such as moral philosophy and ethics, end up in mere descriptions of different, miscellaneous moral systems?

If your child questions like "Can homicide be condoned in capital punishment?", can you provide a proper and sufficient answer as a parent?
